Course Descriptions

Cockroaches

Wednesday, September 7, 2022

In this course participants will learn the historical significance of cockroaches, what is fact and what is fiction as well as the biology & behavior for several of the common species of cockroaches as well as inspection and treatment methods.

FEATURED PRESENTER: Frank Fowler

Frank attended Pembroke State University and earned a Bachelor of Science in Biology. Following graduation Frank was recruited by the USDA Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service PPQ division and served as an Officer for 12 years. Through his USDA career he was involved in various pest remediation and management programs including Fire Ant, Gypsy Moth, fumigation, large-scale land trapping and survey programs, biocontrol, and pheromone monitoring programs. He was also heavily involved in the creation of the smuggling interdiction and trade compliance programs that are still in operation today. In 2001, after long years of friendship, Frank joined Scott McNeely in the formation of McNeely Pest Control in Winston-Salem, NC where he served as Vice President/Biologist. Frank was involved in all aspects of the business concentrating on operations. After growing a successful business that employed more than 200 teammates and served many prominent local and regional clients, they decided to sell the business in late 2020. Frank holds North Carolina Structural Pest Control Licenses in Pest Wood and Fumigation and is a NC Animal Damage Control Agent.
